ATTORNEYS FOR DEFENDANT MCKESSON CORPORATION

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT DISTRICT OF UTAH, CENTRAL DIVISION

UINTAH COUNTY, UTAH; DUCHESNE COUNTY, UTAH; DAGGETT COUNTY, UTAH; and TRI-COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT;

Plaintiffs,

v.

PURDUE PHARMA L.P., et al.,

Defendants.

NOTICE OF REMOVAL

Civil No. 2:18-cv-00585-DBP

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1441, 1446, and 1367, Defendant McKesson Corporation ("McKesson") has removed the above-captioned action from the Eighth Judicial District Court for Uintah County, Utah to the United States District Court for the District of Utah. As grounds for removal, McKesson states:

NATURE OF REMOVED ACTION

1. On June 7, 2018, Uintah County, Duchesne County, Daggett County, and the Tri-County Health Department ("Plaintiffs") filed Uintah Cty., Utah, et al. v. Purdue Pharma L.P., et al., in the Eighth Judicial District Court for Uintah County. The state court assigned Case No. 180800056 to the action.

- 2. The Complaint asserts claims against three groups of defendants.
- 3. The first group of defendants consists of Purdue Pharma L.P.; Purdue Pharma, Inc.; The Purdue Frederick Company, Inc.; Teva Pharmaceuticals USA, Inc.; Cephalon, Inc.; Johnson & Johnson; Janssen Pharmaceuticals, Inc.; Janssen Pharmaceutica, Inc. n/k/a Janssen Pharmaceuticals, Inc.; Ortho-McNeil-Janssen Pharmaceuticals, Inc. n/k/a Janssen Pharmaceuticals, Inc.; Endo Health Solutions Inc.; Endo Pharmaceuticals Inc.; Allergan plc f/k/a Actavis plc; Actavis, Inc. f/k/a Watson Pharmaceuticals, Inc.; Watson Laboratories, Inc.; Actavis LLC; Actavis Pharma, Inc. f/k/a Watson Pharma, Inc.; Insys Therapeutics, Inc.; and Mallinckrodt LLC (collectively, the "Manufacturer Defendants"). Compl. ¶¶ 53-76.
- 4. The second group of defendants consists of McKesson Corporation, Cardinal Health Inc., and AmerisourceBergen Corporation (collectively, the "Distributor Defendants"). Compl. ¶ 77-95.
- 5. The third and final group of defendants consists of Perry Fine, Scott Fishman, and Lynn Webster (collectively, the "Individual Defendants"). Compl. ¶¶ 96-98.
- 6. The Complaint asserts eight causes of action against McKesson and the other Distributor Defendants: violations of the Utah Consumer Sales Practices Act (First Cause of Action); public nuisance (Second Cause of Action); fraud, misrepresentation, and fraudulent concealment (Third Cause of Action); strict products liability (Fourth Cause of Action); negligence (Fifth Cause of Action); negligent marketing (Sixth Cause of Action); civil conspiracy (Seventh Cause of Action); and unjust enrichment (Eighth Cause of Action). See Compl. ¶¶ 744-817.

- 7. Although Plaintiffs assert that federal jurisdiction is lacking, Compl. ¶ 50, Plaintiffs' claims against the Distributor Defendants stem from an alleged duty to "inspect, report, or otherwise limit" suspicious orders of prescription opioids, id. ¶ 714. The Distributor Defendants breached that duty by "failing to submit suspicious order reports," Compl. ¶ 716, and by "shipp[ing] millions of doses of highly addictive controlled opioid pain killers into Uintah, Duchesne, and Daggett County" when "[m]any of these orders should have been stopped, or at the very least, investigated as potential suspicious orders," id. ¶¶ 726-27.
- 8. Because the duties governing reporting and shipping "suspicious" opioid orders arise solely from the federal Controlled Substances Act ("CSA") and its implementing regulations, Plaintiffs plead that alleged violations of federal law form the basis for its claims.
- 9. On December 5, 2017, the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation (JPML) formed a multidistrict litigation (MDL) and transferred opioid-related actions to Judge Dan Polster in the Northern District of Ohio pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1407. See In re Nat'l Prescription Opiate Litig., MDL No. 2804 (J.P.M.L. Dec. 5, 2017), ECF No. 328. More than 1,000 opioid-related actions are pending in the MDL.
 - 10. McKesson intends to tag this case immediately for transfer to the MDL.
- 11. In accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 1446(a), copies of the docket sheet and all process, pleadings, and orders served on McKesson in the state court action are attached.

TIMELINESS OF REMOVAL

- 12. Plaintiff served the Complaint on McKesson on or after June 22, 2018.
- 13. In accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 1446(b), this notice of removal is timely filed within 30 days of service of Plaintiff's Complaint. See Murphy Bros., Inc. v. Michetti Pipe

Stringing, Inc., 526 U.S. 344, 354-56 (1999) (30-day removal period begins to run upon service of summons and complaint).

- 14. "If defendants are served at different times, and a later-served defendant files a notice of removal, any earlier-served defendant may consent to the removal even though that earlier-served defendant did not previously initiate or consent to removal." 28 U.S.C. § 1446(b)(2)(C).
- 15. McKesson has not responded to the Complaint in state court. McKesson's response is not due until September 13, 2018, pursuant to a stipulation between Plaintiffs and McKesson.

PROPRIETY OF VENUE

16. Venue is proper in this district under 28 U.S.C. § 1441(a) because the state court where the suit has been pending is in this district.

BASIS OF REMOVAL

- 17. Removal is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1441 and 1331 because Plaintiffs' claims present a substantial federal question under the CSA, 21 U.S.C. §§ 801, et seq.
- 18. The original jurisdiction of the district courts includes jurisdiction over "all civil actions arising under the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States." 28 U.S.C. § 1331.
- 19. "Whether a case arises under federal law for purposes of § 1331" is governed by the "well-pleaded complaint rule." Holmes Grp., Inc. v. Vornado Air Circulation Sys., Inc., 535 U.S. 826, 830 (2002) (internal quotations omitted).

- 20. Even when state law creates the causes of action, a complaint may raise a substantial question of federal law sufficient to warrant removal if "vindication of a right under state law necessarily turn[s] on some construction of federal law." Merrell Dow Pharm. Inc., v. Thompson, 478 U.S. 804, 808-09 (1986) (citation omitted); see also Gully v. First Nat'l Bank, 299 U.S. 109, 112 (1936) ("To bring a case within [§ 1441], a right or immunity created by the Constitution or laws of the United States must be an element, and an essential one, of the plaintiff's cause of action.").¹
- 21. "[F]ederal jurisdiction over a state law claim will lie if a federal issue is: (1) necessarily raised, (2) actually disputed, (3) substantial, and (4) capable of resolution in federal court without disrupting the federal-state balance approved by Congress." Gunn v. Minton, 568

More recently, a unanimous Supreme Court in Mims v. Arrow Financial Services, LLC held: "Divestment of district court jurisdiction should be found no more readily than divestment of state court jurisdiction, given the longstanding and explicit grant of federal question jurisdiction in 28 U.S.C. § 1331." 565 U.S. 368, 379 (2012) (brackets, citations, and internal quotation marks omitted).

¹ A defendant need not overcome any artificial presumptions against removal or in favor of remand. In Breuer v. Jim's Concrete of Brevard, Inc., 538 U.S. 691 (2003), the Supreme Court unanimously held that the 1948 amendments to the general federal removal statute, 28 U.S.C. § 1441(a), trumped the Court's prior teachings in Shamrock Oil & Gas Corp. v. Sheets, 313 U.S. 100 (1941), and its antecedents, that federal jurisdictional statutes must be strictly construed against any recognition of federal subject matter jurisdiction, with every presumption indulged in favor of remand. Id. at 697-98 ("[W]hatever apparent force this argument [of strict construction against removal] might have claimed when Shamrock was handed down has been qualified by later statutory development. . . . Since 1948, therefore, there has been no question that whenever the subject matter of an action qualifies it for removal, the burden is on a plaintiff to find an express exception.") (emphasis added); see also Exxon Mobil Corp. v Allapattah Servs., Inc., 545 U.S. 546, 558 (2005) (construing 1990 enactment of 28 U.S.C. § 1367, authorizing supplemental federal subject matter jurisdiction, and holding: "We must not give jurisdictional statutes a more expansive interpretation than their text warrants; but it is just as important not to adopt an artificial construction that is narrower than what the text provides . . . Ordinary principles of statutory construction apply.") (citation omitted).

U.S. 251, 258 (2013); see Grable & Sons Metal Prods., Inc. v. Darue Eng'g & Mfg., 545 U.S. 308, 315 (2005). "Where all four of these requirements are met . . . jurisdiction is proper because there is a serious federal interest in claiming the advantages thought to be inherent in a federal forum, which can be vindicated without disrupting Congress's intended division of labor between state and federal courts." Gunn, 568 U.S. at 258 (internal quotation omitted).

- 22. As set forth below, this case meets all four requirements.²
- Although Plaintiffs ostensibly plead some of their theories of recovery against McKesson as state law claims, they base the underlying theory of liability on McKesson's alleged violations of federal law or alleged duties arising out of federal law, specifically the CSA, i.e., that a portion of its otherwise lawful shipments of prescription opioids were unlawful because they were shipped in fulfillment of suspicious orders that McKesson allegedly had a duty to identify, report, and then not ship. Compl. ¶¶ 711-16, 724, 726-27.
- 24. The source of the asserted legal duty to monitor and report suspicious orders of controlled substances is the CSA, 21 U.S.C. §§ 801, et seq., and its implementing regulations. See Compl. ¶ 737 (identifying 21 C.F.R. § 1301.74(b) as source of duty to report suspicious orders to the Drug Enforcement Administration of the United States Department of Justice ("DEA")); id. ¶ 740 (summarizing Distributor Defendants' "statutory and regulatory duties to 'maintain effective controls against diversion' and 'design and operate a system to disclose to the registrant suspicious orders of controlled substances," as required by 21 U.S.C. §§ 823-24 and the DEA).

² The substantiality inquiry as it pertains to federal question jurisdiction is distinct from the merits of the case and has no bearing on the strength of Plaintiff's underlying claims. See Gunn v. Minton, 568 U.S. 251, 260 (2013) ("The substantiality inquiry under Grable looks . . . to the importance of the issue to the federal system as a whole.").

- 25. The source of the asserted legal duty to suspend shipments of suspicious orders is 21 U.S.C. § 823(b) and (e), as interpreted by the DEA. Specifically, DEA interprets the public interest factors for registering distributors under the CSA, 21 U.S.C. § 823(b) and (e), to impose a responsibility on distributors to exercise due diligence to avoid filling suspicious orders that might be diverted to unlawful uses. See Masters Pharm., Inc. v. DEA, 861 F.3d 206, 212-13 (D.C. Cir. 2017) (citing In re Southwood Pharm., Inc., Revocation of Registration, 72 Fed. Reg. 36,487, 36,501, 2007 WL 1886484 (Drug Enf't Admin. July 3, 2007), as source of DEA's "Shipping Requirement").
- 26. Plaintiffs' theories of liability against McKesson and other Distributor Defendants, as pled in the Complaint, are predicated on allegations that the Distributor Defendants breached alleged duties under the CSA to implement effective controls to detect and report "suspicious" pharmacy orders for prescription opioids and—crucial to Plaintiffs' claims—to refuse to ship such orders to Utah pharmacies.
- 27. Specifically, Plaintiffs plead that McKesson and the other Distributor Defendants violated federal law with, among others, the following allegations:
 - a. "The Defendants had a duty to notice suspicious or alarming orders of opioid pharmaceuticals and to report suspicious orders to the proper authorities and governing bodies including the DEA and the Utah Department of Health." Compl. ¶711.3

³ Plaintiffs fail to identify any Utah law or regulation supporting this alleged duty to report suspicious orders to the Utah Department of Health, and there is no state provision analogous to the federal CSA's reporting requirement. See infra note 4.

- b. "The Defendants knew or should have known that they were supplying vast amounts of dangerous drugs in Uintah, Duchesne, and Daggett County that were already facing abuse, diversion, misuse, and other problems associated with the opioid epidemic. [. . .] The Defendants failed in their duty to take any action to prevent or reduce the distribution of these drugs." Id. ¶¶ 712-13.
- c. "The Defendants [. . .] had a duty to inspect, report, or otherwise limit the manufacture and flow of these drugs to Uintah, Duchesne, and Daggett County. The Defendants [. . .] intentionally failed in this duty." Id. ¶¶ 714-15.
- d. "The Defendants have displayed a continuing pattern of failing to submit suspicious order reports." Id. ¶ 716.
- e. "In 2008, McKesson paid a $13.25 million fine to settle similar claims regarding suspicious orders from internet pharmacies. [. . .] Despite these prior penalties, McKesson's pattern of failing to report suspicious orders continued for many years." Id. ¶ 717-18.
- f. "Despite the charges, fines, and penalties brought against the Distributor Defendants in the past, they continued to fail to report suspicious orders or prevent the flow of prescription opioids, including into Uintah, Duchesne, and Daggett County." Id. ¶ 724.
- g. "Between the years in question, including 2007 through 2016, the Distributor Defendants have shipped millions of doses of highly addictive

- controlled opioid pain killers into Uintah, Duchesne, and Daggett County.

 [...] Many of these orders should have been stopped, or at the very least, investigated as potential suspicious orders." Id. ¶ 726-27.
- h. "Upon information and belief, the Defendants did not refuse to manufacture, ship, or supply any opioid medications to any pharmacy in Uintah, Duchesne, and Daggett County from 2007 to the present." Id. ¶ 730.
- i. "The DEA has provided briefings to each of the Defendant Distributors and conducted a variety of conferences regarding their duties under federal law," id. ¶ 738, including a duty to inform the DEA of suspicious orders and a "statutory responsibility to exercise due diligence to avoid filling suspicious orders." Id. ¶¶ 739-40.
- j. "As a result of the decade-long refusal by the Defendant Distributors to abide by federal law, the DEA has repeatedly taken administrative action to force compliance. The United States Department of Justice, Office of the Inspector General, Evaluation and Inspections Divisions, reported that the DEA issued final decisions in 178 registrant actions between 2008 and 2012. The Office of Administrative Law Judges issued a recommended decision in a total of 177 registrant actions before the DEA issued its final decision, including 76 actions involving orders to show cause and 41 actions involving immediate suspension orders." Id. ¶ 741.

- 28. Plaintiffs do not and cannot identify a state law that specifically requires wholesale pharmaceutical distributors to "inspect, report, or otherwise limit" prescription opioid orders from registered pharmacies. Id. ¶714.⁴
- 29. The federal question presented by Plaintiffs' claims therefore is "(1) necessarily raised, (2) actually disputed, (3) substantial, and (4) capable of resolution in federal court without disrupting the federal-state balance approved by Congress." Gunn, 568 U.S. at 258.
- 30. First, Plaintiffs' state law claims "necessarily raise" a federal question because "resolution of this case turns on issues of federal law." Evergreen Square of Cudahy v. Wisconsin Hous. & Econ. Dev. Auth., 776 F.3d 463, 467 (7th Cir. 2015); see also N. Carolina ex rel. N. Carolina Dep't of Admin. v. Alcoa Power Generating, Inc., 853 F.3d 140, 146 (4th Cir. 2017) ("Regardless of the allegations of a state law claim, where the vindication of a right under state law necessarily turns on some construction of federal law, the claim arises under federal law and thus supports federal question jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1331.") (alteration and internal quotation omitted); Virgin Islands Hous. Auth. v. Coastal Gen. Constr. Servs. Corp., 27 F.3d 911, 916 (3d Cir. 1994) ("[A]n action under 28 U.S.C. § 1331(a) arises only if the complaint seeks a remedy expressly granted by federal law or if the action requires construction of a federal statute, or at least a distinctive policy of a federal statute requires the application of federal legal principles.") (emphasis added).

- 31. As pled, Plaintiffs' claims against McKesson and the other Distributor Defendants require Plaintiffs to establish that Distributor Defendants breached duties necessarily defined by reference to federal law, by failing to report and stop shipments of otherwise lawful orders of controlled substances to Utah. See Compl. ¶ 711, 713 (Defendants had "a duty . . . to report suspicious orders to the proper authorities" and a "duty . . . to prevent or reduce the distribution of these drugs"). In the absence of analogous duties under Utah law, the Complaint necessarily raises a federal issue—namely, whether McKesson violated the federal CSA.
- 32. Although plaintiffs "may avoid federal jurisdiction by exclusive reliance on state law," Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams, 482 U.S. 386, 392 (1987) (emphasis added), Plaintiffs here allege violations of federal law as the basis for its state-law claims.⁵ Plaintiffs' Complaint necessarily raises a federal issue—namely, whether Distributor Defendants violated the CSA by failing to report, prevent, or halt suspicious orders for prescription opioids.

⁵ It is not necessary for federal jurisdiction that McKesson establish that all of Plaintiffs' counts against it raise a federal question. Even if Plaintiffs could prove one or more of those counts without establishing a violation of federal law, this Court still has federal question jurisdiction: "Nothing in the jurisdictional statutes suggests that the presence of related state law claims somehow alters the fact that [the] complaints, by virtue of their federal claims, were 'civil actions' within the federal courts' 'original jurisdiction." City of Chicago v. Int'l College of Surgeons, 522 U.S. 156, 166 (1997).

Because the Court has original jurisdiction over at least one count here, it has supplemental jurisdiction over Plaintiffs' remaining counts against McKesson and the other Distributor Defendants, which are so related that they "form part of the same case or controversy." 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a).

- 33. Second, this federal issue is "actually disputed" because the parties disagree as to the scope and existence of alleged duties arising under the CSA and whether Distributor Defendants violated duties that, as Plaintiffs plead them, arise only under the CSA. Indeed, this federal issue is the "central point of dispute." Gunn, 568 U.S. at 259.
- 34. Third, the federal issue presented by Plaintiffs' claims is "substantial." "The substantiality inquiry under Grable looks . . . to the importance of the issue to the federal system as a whole." Gunn, 568 U.S. at 260. Among other things, the Court must assess whether the federal government has a "strong interest" in the federal issue at stake and whether allowing state courts to resolve the issue will "undermine the development of a uniform body of [federal] law." Id. at 260-62 (internal citations omitted). As the Supreme Court explained in Grable, "[t]he doctrine captures the commonsense notion that a federal court ought to be able to hear claims recognized under state law that nonetheless turn on substantial questions of federal law, and thus justify resort to the experience, solicitude, and hope of uniformity that a federal forum offers on federal issues." 545 U.S. at 312.
- 35. Plaintiffs' theories of Distributor Defendants' liability necessarily require that a court determine the scope and existence of Distributor Defendants' obligations under federal law because regulation of controlled substances is first and foremost federal regulation. Indeed, Congress designed the CSA with the intent of reducing illegal diversion of controlled substances, "while at the same time providing the legitimate drug industry with a unified approach to narcotic and dangerous drug control." H.R. Rep. No. 1444, 91st. Cong., 2nd Sess. 1970, as reprinted in 1970 U.S.C.C.A.N. 4566, 4571-72.

- 36. Plaintiffs' theories of Distributor Defendants' liability thus "involve aspects of the complex federal regulatory scheme applicable to" the national prescription drug supply chain, Broder v. Cablevision Sys. Corp., 418 F.3d 187, 195 (2d Cir. 2005), and are "sufficiently significant to the development of a uniform body of [controlled substances] regulation to satisfy the requirement of importance to the federal system as a whole," NASDAQ OMX Grp., Inc. v. UBS Sec., LLC, 770 F.3d 1010, 1024 (2d Cir. 2014) (internal quotation omitted). The CSA itself notes that "illegal importation, manufacture, distribution, and possession and improper use of controlled substances have a substantial and detrimental effect on the health and general welfare of the American people" and that "[f]ederal control of the intrastate incidents of the traffic in controlled substances is essential to the effective control of the interstate incidents of such traffic." 21 U.S.C. § 801. Furthermore, "minimizing uncertainty over" reporting obligations under the CSA "fully justifies resort to the experience, solicitude, and hope of uniformity that a federal forum offers on federal issues." New York ex rel. Jacobson v. Wells Fargo Nat'l Bank, N.A., 824 F.3d 308, 318 (2d Cir. 2016) (alteration and citation omitted); Rhode Island Fishermen's All., Inc. v. Rhode Island Dep't Of Envtl. Mgmt., 585 F.3d 42, 51 (1st Cir. 2009) (noting, in a case involving state law claims arising out of the implementation of an interstate fisheries compact, "there is a substantial federal interest in ensuring that actions taken in pursuance of the Management Act receive the uniformity of interpretation that a federal forum offers.").
- 37. Plaintiff's attempt to enforce the CSA raises a substantial federal question even though the CSA does not provide for a private right of action. In 2005, in Grable, the Supreme Court held that lack of a federal cause of action does not foreclose federal question jurisdiction. The Court stated that applying Merrell Dow too narrowly would both "overturn[] decades of precedent," and "convert[] a federal cause of action from a sufficient condition for federal question jurisdiction into a necessary one." Grable, 545 U.S. at 317; see also, e.g., Ranck v. Mt. Hood Cable Regulatory Comm'n, 2017 WL 1752954, at *4-*5 (D. Or. May 2, 2017) (state law claims based on violations of Cable Communications Policy Act raise substantial federal questions and satisfy Grable even though no private right of action exists under Act).

- 38. Removal is particularly appropriate here because Plaintiffs' action is but one of more than 1,300 similar actions nationwide, of which over 1,000 are pending in the MDL in the Northern District of Ohio. Indeed, opioid use and addiction is not merely a local issue, and Plaintiffs acknowledge that many of their allegations are "national in scope." See, e.g., Compl. ¶¶ 345, 433, 638. The MDL judge, Judge Polster, is attempting to achieve a national solution to a nationwide problem.⁶
- 39. Fourth, and finally, the federal issue also is capable of resolution in federal court "without disrupting the federal-state balance approved by Congress." Gunn, 568 U.S. at 258. Federal courts exclusively hear challenges to DEA authority to enforce the CSA against distributors, and litigating this case in a state court runs the risk of the state court applying federal requirements inconsistently with the manner in which the federal agency tasked with enforcing the CSA—the DEA—applies them. Federal jurisdiction is further warranted given the hundreds of similar actions pending in the MDL, which "[i]n the aggregate . . . have the potential to substantially influence the scope and success" of the federal statutory scheme to regulate controlled substances. Evergreen Square of Cudahy, 776 F.3d at 468. "Accordingly, the federal government has a strong interest in these issues being decided according to uniform principles[,]" which "will best be achieved by allowing suit in federal courts." Id.

40. In summary, removal of this action is appropriate because Plaintiffs' "statelaw claim[s] necessarily raise a stated federal issue, actually disputed and substantial, which a federal forum may entertain without disturbing any congressionally approved balance of federal and state judicial responsibilities." Grable, 545 U.S. at 314; see also, e.g., Evergreen Square of Cudahy, 776 F.3d at 467-68 (state law claims alleging defendants' breached a contract for Section 8 housing by failing to approve rent increases satisfy Grable, raising issues that the "federal government has a strong interest in . . . being decided according to uniform principles."); New York ex rel. Jacobson, 824 F.3d at 315-18 (state law claims based on defendant's alleged violation of Internal Revenue Code satisfy Grable); NASDAQ, 770 F.3d at 1031 (state law claims premised on violations of Exchange Act "necessarily raise disputed issues of federal law of significant interest to the federal system as a whole"); Gilmore v. Weatherford, 694 F.3d 1160, 1176 (10th Cir. 2012) ("Although plaintiffs could lose their conversion claim without the court reaching the federal question, it seems that they cannot win unless the court answers that question. Thus, plaintiffs' 'right to relief necessarily depends on resolution of a substantial question of federal law."") (citation omitted); Broder, 418 F.3d at 196 (state law claims premised on cable provider's alleged violations of Communication Act's uniform rate requirement satisfy "Grable test for federal question removal jurisdiction").

41. To the extent that the Court determines that some, but not all, of Plaintiffs' claims state a substantial federal question, the Court can evaluate whether to retain the non-federal claims against the Manufacturer Defendants, the Distributor Defendants, and the Individual Defendants under the doctrine of supplemental jurisdiction. 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a).
